Given the growing significance of high-technology in the growth saga of the Indian economy and the fact that the Competition Regulator of India has dealt with or is dealing with certain prominent complaints related to anti-competitive conducts in the sectors founded on high-technology, it becomes imperative to understand the complexities of enforcing Competition Law when dealing with these sectors.

Dr Geeta Gouri, Former Member, Competition Commission of India and a distinguished speaker, will expound on the law and economics of high-technology and competition law enforcement.
